SOLO EXHIBITION FIONA WILLIAMS

HUMANS AT THEIR MOST VULNERABLE FORM

Fiona J. Williams is a British fine art and expressionist painter. The Emi Eleode curates her solo exhibition (2 November – 29 December 2020) for the Dutch Gallery, Gallery Sorelle Sciarone. The exhibition explores the complexities of human emotion as a continually changing entity and its impact on our daily life through a series of 10 portraits. The Exhibition is an online exclusive, due to the ongoing pandemic. It can be found on Gallerysorellesciarone.com (<https://www.gallerysorellesciarone.com/exhibitions/humans-at-their-most-vulnerable-form>), Artsy.net and Artsper.

CONTINUOUS CHANGE

Our homes shape our view of the world. Our upbringing and the society we live in, continuing to evolve through time. Fiona highlights this in her paintings. She engages with the experiences of everyday life, including the sensations sparked by her own physical and emotional environment. Each painting deals with the sitter's agency in this changing environment.

FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION

Gallery Sorelle Sciarone is a Dutch Fine Art Gallery, that specialises in colourful and evocative paintings. Tascha Sciarone is the gallery owner and is an Art Historian. This is the galleries first exhibition with a British painter.
